Founded in 1971, the Puerto Rican Educators Association (PREA) of New Jersey has aimed to represent Puerto Rican educators in the continuous struggle to defend the best interest of our profession and our community. PREA has worked on various fronts; among them are the development of bilingual programs, alternative actions, opposition to the English-only movement, and other legislation which affects our community. We are a non-profit organization whose funds go to promoting our objectives and in fund scholarships for low income students.
